1. The location of the Torun (Thorn) armaments factory is not exactly known. The factory is underground and has three levels. The first two levels reportedly manufacture, load (charge) and package the ammunition. The third level is reportedly used as a steam-electric power station for factory needs.
2. Small arms and hand grenades are manufactured in this factory where the machinery is very modern and mostly of Soviet origin.
3. Some of the prisoners from the Torun Labor Camp work in the factory as volunteers. They are transported to and from work by the militia in closed trucks during the hours of darkness. They clean and package cartridges, and are not admitted to the loading (charging) department, probably for fear of sabotage.
